About Me

I'm an Information Systems undergraduate at University of Colombo School of computing .As an undergraduate web designer, I am learning about HTML, CSS, and JavaScript, as well as other technologies and tools used in the web design process. After completing my undergraduate degree, I may choose to pursue a career as a web designer or to continue my education with a graduate degree. In either case, the skills and knowledge I gain as an undergraduate web designer will be to help you.
